Case Study >>

Planet Fitness Franchise in Mexico City was facing the problem of time attendance.

One is buddy punching and the other is the huge amount of time they spent on calculation of working hours. They realized they needed a reliable, fast and efficient way to keep track of attendance, which also eliminates buddy punching. They wanted to find a simple and accurate solution instead of writing individual tickets to count attendees.

They also came to the realization that the time spent on writing numerous reports was cutting into their valuable time.

After searching for an answer, they came across Anviz's TC100 desktop fingerprint time attendance system. They realized Anviz's fingerprint technology could help them completely solve the buddy punching problem - a real headache in management. They also realized that this system could save their HR department a lot of time and labor by reducing the effort being used in writing individual paperwork. They could simply check the attendance by having the employees scan their fingers; the report would automatically be processed in software.

TC100 has been designed in a most simple way for mobility and convenience. It was easily put on the reception desk without any installation. It could be carried to everywhere such as meeting rooms, training areas and the cafeteria with easy connection to Laptop via USB cable. Besides, the operation menu was specially simplified so anyone could use it after receiving easy instruction. Even HR employee without very good computer knowledge can complete the enrollment and maintenance without any problem. Bio-office TC100 with management software is the perfect solution for small offices.
